To Whom It May Concern:

This character reference is for Winterberry Irrigation and Chris Daigle. Winterberry Irrigation is one of the most prominent installers of commercial and golf irrigation systems in the northeast. Winterberry has all of the latest state of the art equipment for proper layout, design, and large scale installation of high efficiency irrigation systems. Rain Bird, as a manufacturer of high quality irrigation products, approves of the work product Winterberry Irrigation delivers to their customers. Winterberry is an honest and professional business that can handles anything from routine service to complex situations seemingly with ease.

Chris Daigle has traveled to Rain Bird corporate sites to receive factory training and education on Rain Bird products ranging from mechanical products to control systems and pump stations. Rain Bird routinely completes product training sessions with Winterberry's staff at their offices each year. The dedication from Winterberry's management to make sure their employees have the training and irrigation product needed to be a leader in the industry. This also shows their dedication to servicing the customer at the highest level. Winterberry is also an advocate for sharing this knowledge with municipalities and school districts to promote best practices and efficient performance of an irrigation system.

We are pleased to deliver this character reference for Winterberry Irrigation and Chris Daigle. Please refer any questions to me directly at the information below.
